Monochrome Watercolour of Scapula

Danielle McKenna

Centre for Anatomy and Human Identification, University of Dundee, Dundee, DD1 5EH, UK.

Danielle is currently studying for the MSc in Forensic Art. This monochrome watercolour of a human scapula was produced during her studies in 2008/09. She describes the MAA assessment of her work in London:

“...We had an eventful journey back ‘running’ through London City airport with A1 portfolios after our artwork had been judged in London. We were delighted with the outcomes of this first achievement and are looking forward to the next completion of work and our journey back to the Barber-Surgeons' Hall in March”
